

September 1, 2011

Dear Friend,

At some time in the past you expressed an interest in the Bay Delta Conservation Plan (BDCP). We are consolidating our lists. If you want to stay on the list, you need take no action. If you want to be dropped from the list, please click here to unsubscribe.

In the future, once a week we will send an email to this list telling you about BDCP public meetings coming in the following two weeks. If you have asked to be on a notification list for a particular working group, you may also get a notice about a meeting on that topic. Meetings are listed on the BDCP website as soon as they are scheduled.

A public meeting to hear input from farmers in the Delta on possible impacts of BDCP on agricultural practices will be held in Fairfield on September 13, 2011. See the BDCP website for details.

Finally, we are updating our website. We would like to hear from you about the changes you would like to see in the website to make it more usable by you. Please send your comments to b.gerbs@resources.ca.gov.

Thanks for your continued interest in BDCP.

Jerry Meral

Deputy Secretary
California Natural Resources Agency

